

Career development opportunity for ambitious timber harvesting professional

Regional Harvesting & Marketing Manager, North Scotland

A rare opportunity has emerged to take a leading role in the harvesting and marketing of timber resulting from our activities in north Scotland covering Highland, Moray and Aberdeenshire.

The successful candidate will be a dedicated team player capable of working with senior colleagues and will have a pivotal role in the delivery of the Company's harvesting and marketing strategy.

Key aspects of the post will include working closely with forest management colleagues on existing client properties and the development of new business opportunities.

The post requires a high calibre professional capable of adopting an innovative approach to challenges and demonstrating a willingness to become involved in special projects.

Reporting to the Forestry Director, the successful candidate will head the regional timber harvesting team and provide commercially successful management solutions in respect of our timber operations.

Scottish Woodlands provides a comprehensive range of both traditional and evolving forest and land related services, underpinned by our unique staff ownership structure, in depth market experience, knowledge base and commitment to quality. The Company manages over 200,000 hectares of land on behalf of clients and this year will undertake the harvesting and marketing of over 1 million m³ of timber.

Our remuneration package includes the opportunity for equity participation in addition to a salary commensurate with experience and the high level of responsibility associated with the post, healthcare and pension arrangements.

Applications to be made in writing along with a copy of current CV to: Mhairi Calder, HR Co-ordinator, Scottish Woodlands Ltd, Research Park, Riccarton, Edinburgh EH14 4AP or by email to: mhairi.calder@scottishwoodlands.co.uk
